

Canadian Natural Gas Exports to Northeast U.S.

Source: National Energy Board, Canada

Several new pipeline systems added in New York and New England since the early 1990s have been linked to Canada (e.g., Iroquois, Empire, PNGTS, M&NE, Millennium). Canada has been an important supplier of natural gas to the U.S. – and the Northeast – for decades.