

System Analyst/Programmer

Summary:

Under close supervision, provides analysis, planning, implementation and support of the technological needs and objectives of the Financial Services and Information Technology business units. The major objective is to improve business processes and support critical business strategies. It provides reengineering, development, implementation and maintenance of business applications systems and processes.

This position exists to provide the appropriate systems, applications and level of technical support in order for the corporate functional units to accomplish their goals. This position must apply the most effective technology to the needs and objectives of the corporate functional unit.

Knowledge:

- Extensive knowledge of JD Edwards Financial, Inventory, Purchasing and Work Order Management modules.
- Knowledge of Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) /Financial Forecasting/Accounting & Budgeting systems
- Knowledge of system analysis and design techniques.
- Knowledge of project management, client-server system development and support, design and support of Object Oriented, distributed systems.
- Basic knowledge of relational database SQL, web application development methods and tools.
- Basic gas transportation industry knowledge.
- Knowledge of general business systems: Windows, Networking, FileMaker, Internet tools, Backup tools, Remote access and support tools.

Education and Experience:

- Extensive experience supporting financial computer systems for a groups of users.
- Min. 3 years developing, programming and supporting JD Edwards system.
- Min. 2 years' experience developing and supporting enterprise application systems for Financial Budgeting & Forecasting.
- First line responder to user support issues; interpreting user and business requirements into accurate and effective systems.
- Developing project proposals and justifications.
- Ability to coach, assist and train users.
- Ability to effectively research, test and implement new technologies.

Our facility is located in an attractive campus like corporate setting with easy access to the highway, plenty of parking and lots of amenities: on-site fitness facility, walking paths, several cafes' and much more. As a valuable member of our team we offer a professional, friendly work environment where individuals are appreciated for their contributions.

All positions require pre-employment background verification and drug & alcohol screening. Iroquois is committed to being a safe and drug-free workplace. We appreciate your cooperation in keeping Iroquois safe and drug-free.

In accordance with DOT regulations (49 CFR section 40.25), Iroquois is required to obtain prior drug and alcohol testing records for applicants/employees intending to perform safety-sensitive duties for covered DOT positions who have held similar positions in the past. If an applicant/employee refuses to provide written consent for Iroquois to obtain these records, he/she will not be permitted to perform safety-sensitive functions.

Iroquois is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, protected veteran status, disability status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, genetic information, or any other characteristic protected by law.

To apply: employment@iroquois.com