

Gas Pipeline Safety Inspector (Utility Analyst/Public Service Coordinator III)
Consumer Assistance and Safety Division

Code: YC01

Opening date: May 13, 2022

Closing date: June 3, 2022

The Maine Public Utilities Commission (MPUC) is seeking a qualified applicant to fill the position of Gas Pipeline Safety Inspector (GPSI). Maine's gas safety team is nationally recognized and has received perfect scores from the federal Pipeline and Hazardous Material Safety Administration (PHMSA). The GPSI will conduct inspections at natural gas utility and jurisdictional propane facilities to ensure compliance with federal and state gas safety regulations and will be based at the MPUC in Hallowell, Maine. The GPSI will also assist the Gas Pipeline Safety Manager in preparing reports, tracking inspection activity, and communicating compliance expectations to regulated gas utilities.

This position reports to the Gas Pipeline Safety Manager and the work requires careful attention to detail and excellent communication skills, as well as the ability to work as part of a team. The work of the GPSI will involve frequent statewide travel and occasional overnights.

The GPSI will be required to successfully complete the 14 mandatory, one-week, PHMSA courses for Gas Inspectors within three years of hire. Most of these courses are conducted at the PHMSA Training and Qualification Division, in Oklahoma City, OK, though some may be offered remotely. Coursework and travel are paid by the MPUC.

A degree in engineering (or relevant field) and/or a combination of the following is preferred: gas technician certification, relevant experience at a gas utility company, propane operator, regulatory agency, or law enforcement agency. Excellent communication and documentation skills are preferred. Basic computer skills and a valid driver's license are required.

Salary range is $70,000-$85,000 commensurate with experience

Benefits:
